

CONCEALED IDENTIFICATION & RELEASES FORM

IDS Designer of the Year Award Competition Guidelines and Entry Packet

Concealed Identification Form

Should an entry receive an award or be included in any publication, credits will be taken directly from the Concealed Identification Form. Each entrant agrees to follow publicity guidelines as established by design competition in publicity releases. IDS National does NOT accept responsibility for errors or omissions in any publication.

Since there will be no further verification of the information supplied on the form, please ensure that you are providing accurate information. By submitting an entry, each entrant agrees that all information supplied on this form is correct and complete.

The entrant is solely responsible for any errors or omissions in the information supplied on this form. The entrant will be the official contact for this competition and shall receive all correspondence and communication for the IDS National office.

In signing this form, the entrant verifies that this project was completed between October 1, 2016 through December 31, 2017. IDS National must rely on the integrity of the entrant for verification of this information. The entrant further verifies that he or she is the designer of the submitted project.
